

APPENDIX 1 CONCEPT MASTER PLAN

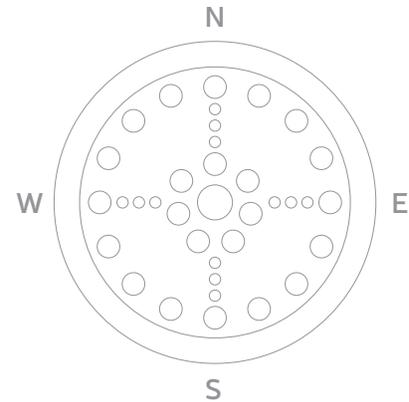

Clinical, Residential, Administrative, Community, Cultural, Ceremonial, Experiential, and Natural Elements are all connected by the Heptagram

APPENDIX 1 CONCEPT MASTER PLAN

The masterplan approach is defined via the programmatic vision of interconnected independent facilities and features. The arrangement of these clinical, residential, administrative, cultural, community, ceremonial, experiential and natural elements around a seven-pointed star or Heptagram creates a recovery campus that is framed by the ideals of medicine wheel and its teachings as patients and staff 'walk the circle' of recovery.

APPENDIX 1 CONCEPT MASTER PLAN

The seven element Recovery Oriented System of Care is created in partnership with Hazelden Betty Ford. The center of the Ojibwe Stone Medicine Wheel - the Four Clans, Grandmother Moon, Father Sun and Mother Earth encircling the Creator - frames the campus idea.

Rooting the Vision Into Facilities and Master Planning

By utilizing Cultural Indicators known throughout the tribal communities within the Upper Peninsula, as well as the State of Michigan and regionally, we can develop a compelling concept for a service model and masterplan for the Recovery Hospital campus as a whole. Aligning historical teaching surrounding the Ojibwe Medicine Wheel along with the seven key health services allows for the opportunity to tell a story about the integrative approach to recovery and wellness and how that approach manifests itself in the overall building and planning strategy.

Traditional Medicine Integration

The Sault Ste. Marie Recovery Hospital masterplan will use the uniqueness of who we are as a tribal nation when setting the model for addictions treatment. Throughout Indian country, the commonality we all have is loss of culture and language due to intergenerational traumas and assimilation.

Who we are as a people is interconnectedness to the world around us, as acknowledgment of being one with all of creation. We work within a holistic approach as to something that happens within one area impacts our lives in another area; in a positive or negative way. We spiritually understand our roles within creation and lived by natural law. The same is true within our physical bodies, we need to always pay attention to our physical, mental, emotional, and spiritual wellbeing and when out of balance in one we are affected within another. These are all key components of our identity.
